Policy for child labourers

† 2063. SHRI GOPALSINH G. SOLANKI: Will the Minister of LABOUR be pleased to state:

(a) whether Government have taken a number of policy initiatives for studying the nature, complications and magnitude of problems of children particularly child labourers of the country; and

(b) if so, the details of the new strategies and action plan finally decided for effecting rapid improvement in the social and financial conditions of the child labour?

THE MINISTER OF STATE IN THE MINISTRY OF LABOUR (SHRI MUNI LALL): (a) and (b) Government has a National Policy on Child Labour which contains an action plan for dealing with the problem of Child Labour. It envisages:

— A legislative action plan,

— Focusing of general development programmes for benefiting children wherever possible, and — Project-based action plans in areas of high concentration of child labour engaged in wage/quasi-wage employment.

The Child Labour (Prohibition & Regulation) Act, 1986 prohibits employment of children in 13 Occupations and 57 Processes listed in the Schedule to the Act.

The Government of India has been implementing two shemes for rehabilitation of children withdrawn from work, namely the scheme of National Child Labour Projects (NCLP) and the Scheme of Grant-in-aid to Voluntary Organisations.

Awareness generation activities are being taken up at the district level by the concerned Project Societies.

A National Conference on Child Labour was held at New Delhi on 22nd January, 2001. The Conference was addressed by the Hon'ble Prime Minister. The Conference inter-alia resolved that concerted action should be taken in a time bound manner for elimination of child labour from hazardous occupations/processes. For achieving this, all Government agencies, research institution, Panchayat Raj Institutions, employers, trade unions, member of press, bar associations, NGOs etc. should work together and establish synergies so that with their collective resources, the problem of child labour is addressed in a holistic way.

The Government is committed to the goal of eradication of child labour in all its forms. Considering the nature and magnitude of the problem, a gradual progressive and sequential approach has been adopted to withdraw and rehabilitate child labourers.
